

The British Society for Parasitology

Spring Meeting 2015

Liverpool
2015

Home to the world's oldest School of Tropical Medicine and five Universities, Liverpool has a long and rich history in Parasitology

Liverpool will host the BSP 2015 Spring Meeting at the BT Convention Centre on the banks of the River Mersey from Thursday 16th to Saturday 18th of April, 2015

The meeting will be themed around MALARIA, the NEGLECTED TROPICAL DISEASES and their VECTORS together with a fusion of traditional and contemporary multi-disciplinary approaches to Parasitology research

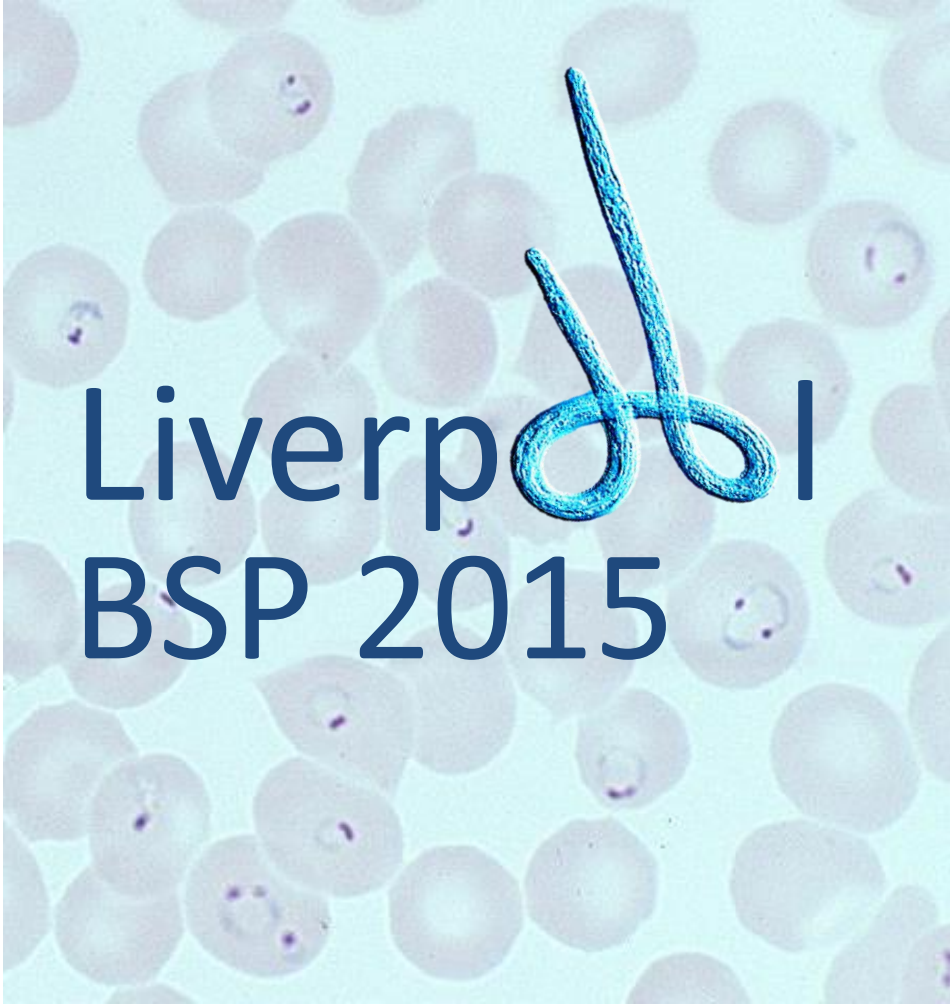

Sited in Liverpool's maritime and architectural World Heritage waterfront the meeting is at the heartbeat of one of the UK's most vibrant cities

Organisers: Prof Russell Stothard, Prof Mark Taylor, Dr Joe Turner, Dr Emily Adams - LSTM
Suggestions for session topics and workshops welcome

Further details will be announced on the BSP website (<http://www.bspuk.org>)
